The British Council has recently partnered with Bangladesh Medical University (BMU) to upskill doctors through Professional Skills Courses. The initiative aims to help medical professionals enhance their presentation, interpersonal communication, and public speaking skills in English, enabling them to communicate more effectively in both local and international contexts.

An event was recently held to sign the contract between Bangladesh Medical University and the British Council Bangladesh, marking the beginning of this collaborative partnership. An event was recently held to sign the contract between Bangladesh Medical University (BMU) and the British Council Bangladesh, marking the beginning of this collaborative partnership where Divisional Head & IT Director, BMU Professor Dr. A.K.M. Akhtaruzzaman and Country Exams Director, British council, Maxim Raimann represented their respective organization.

During the ceremony, discussion was held on extending similar training programmes to BMU teachers, supporting their professional development and classroom communication skills. The event was graced by the presence of Honourable Vice-Chancellor Professor Dr. Md. Shahinul Alam, Divisional Head & IT Director Professor Akhtaruzzaman, Chairman Dr. Md. Mustafa Kamal, and many other respected faculty members from BMU.

Representing the British Council, Maxim Raimann (Country Exams Director), Tahnee Yeasmin (Director, Business Development) and Shehrin Shibly (Sales and Account Manager) attended the event to celebrate this important milestone and explore future areas of collaboration.
